East Head Reservoir Winter Ramble

Sunday, December 20th: 10:00am – 11:30am

The East Head Reservoir is the largest of twenty one ponds found in Myles Standish State Forest, all of which are fed by an enormous underground aquifer. These ponds, called “kettle ponds” do to their rounded, kettle-like shape were formed by receding glaciers over 10,000 years ago, and are some of the most beautiful and bio-diverse areas in the park. On this lovely and relatively flat 3 mile hike around the pond we will explore the winter flora and fauna that live on, in and around this essential water source. The program follows the path of the Heart Healthy Trail and meets at the Interpretive Center in the headquarters parking lot. Free and open to public. Rain, snow, or icy trails cancel.
